SafeSchools Training Named Top 100 Product by District Administration Magazine Four Years Straight

K-12 administrators select SafeSchools Training from Scenario Learning as the industry's best staff training system

Cincinnati, Ohio (Dec. 4, 2013) – For the fourth consecutive year, SafeSchools Training, the leading staff training system for K-12 schools, has been named a District Administration Magazine Readers' Choice Top 100 Product. Educators across the U.S. nominate the top innovative products that have made a positive difference in their classrooms and schools for this annual recognition.

"This is an especially meaningful honor because nominations come directly from the administrators who use SafeSchools Training on a daily basis," said Scenario Learning President and CEO Brian Taylor. "Our customers inspire and motivate us to develop products that help make schools safer for educators and students, which is our top priority."

The winners, which were selected by District Administration editors from a record-setting pool of more than 1,800 nominations, received the highest number of nominations and best descriptions from K-12 leaders. In recognizing the most innovative products, the annual District Administration Readers' Choice Top 100 Products award informs superintendents and other senior school district leaders about products their colleagues around the country are using to help their districts excel.

"The fact that we had a record number of readers participating in this recognition program is a testament to the interest that K-12 leaders have in products for improving educational outcomes and operational efficiencies," said JD Solomon, District Administration's editorial director. "All of the honorees in our Top 100 program should be very proud of their achievement."
